The risk is “if we have no IT capacity to deliver on-going improvements, or clear the technical debt for current benefits, we will fail to mature our services, resulting in poor service delivery, low staff morale and engagement, inefficiency and increased costs with reputational damage to Social Security Scotland.”
- 2.2. AR and EM presented the overview of the risk and its current and planned mitigations.
- 2.3. EM highlighted the key elements of the risk, noting within an agile environment and the pace of delivery, that there will always be a list of outstanding requirements known as technical debt.
- 2.4. AR discussed the actions in place to mitigate the risk including a seven month improvement window, a Continuous Improvement Initiative and more generally building extra capacity within Social Security Scotland to work on development areas.
- 2.5. They are also implementing a mini release process that involves small regular releases to reduce the technical backlog.
- 2.6. Overall this risk will continue to evolve as priorities change so will be kept under review. The current risk score is however within tolerance.

It was advised that resourcing is increasing and that yes lessons learnt were being captured and taken into account in the development of new benefits. Assurance was also given that the team were equipped to deal with any outages.
- 2.9. DW added context and advised that at the minute Social Security Scotland get technical expertise from the Chief Digital Office, and that as we grow we will be building capacity so we have our own technical team in the future.
